One of the unique aspects of our Kendal at Oberlin community is that our calendar closely parallels the Oberlin College calendar. This is true for most of the other organizations in town. The rhythm of the academic year seems natural to us.

With the waning of the beautiful days of summer, our attention begins to turn to fall and the increased activities of our new program year. Hopefully, summer has given us an opportunity to rest, so that with renewed spirits we are ready to prioritize our interests and passions for the new season.

This applies to us as individual residents and, collectively, to our many official committees, interest, and support groups. Each of us can review the newly revised Yellow Book (thanks, Kari Inglis and the Coordination Committee!) to see which of the many possibilities excites us. Our community makes it easy to get involved. We simply need to express our interest to our neighbors who are already involved. Contact information is helpfully included in the Yellow Book.

Looking for exciting new possibilities also applies to each of those committees, interest, and support groups.

If you are already a part of a group, are there exciting new possibilities in the area of your primary passion?

What should we do next?

How are the interests and activities of your group evolving?

I hope we will each have an exciting and fulfilling fall.

Fall Lifelong Learning Classes at Kendal

These courses will be offered only in Heiser Auditorium, with the exception of the December course. Doors will close at 10:35am. To register, please contact Kari Inglis.

“It Ain’t Nothin’ ‘Til We Say So”: An Imperial Supreme Court? Tues., Sept. 3, 10, and 17; 10:30am-noon. Jonathan Entin, Kendal resident and Professor Emeritus, Case Western Reserve School of Law, examines the most recent Supreme Court term.

Session 1: The Presidency.

Session 2: Federal Regulatory Authority.

Session 3: Voting, the First Amendment, and the Supreme Court’s Evolution.

Civilization and Enlightenment: The Spectacular Art of Japan’s Meiji Period (1868-1911). Mon., Sept. 30, Oct. 7 and 14; 10:30am-noon. Dr. Kevin R. E. Greenwood, Joan L. Danforth Curator of Asian Art at the Allen Memorial Art Museum, presents three lectures inspired by the recent full restoration of the Allen’s large bronze Incense Burner with Dragon Base, made during Japan’s Meiji era, and introduces the diverse art of the period. Appreciation for the creativity and technical brilliance of Meiji artists and artisans has flowered in recent decades with major museum exhibitions and publications.

Lecture 1: The Historical Context of Meiji Art. Discusses the historical, economic, and cultural roots of Meiji art, the forced opening of Japan to global trade and its effects on the arts, and the political significance of the Japanese arts of the period as a form of global “soft power.”

Lecture 2: From the Awe-inspiring to the Exquisite: the Diversity of Meiji Art. Focuses on representative examples of Meiji arts in various mediums, from decorative arts to paintings and prints, with works from the Allen and other collections.

Lecture 3: The Global Impact of Early Modern Japanese Art. Highlights the role of international exhibitions in creating the late 19th- to early 20th-century “Japan Craze,” and its wide impact on the arts and culture of Europe and North America.

Writing Workshop. Tues., Nov. 12 and 19; Dec. 3; 10:30am-noon. Hal Sundt, Senior Lecturer of Writing and Communication at Oberlin College. This course explores the genre that goes by many names, including literary journalism and literary nonfiction. It balances research and reportage with the literary flourishes of fiction and poetry. Participants will read examples together and develop a toolkit of techniques and approaches and try crafting their own stories.

Albrecht Dürer: Artist as Creator and Entrepreneur. Tues., Dec. 10 and 17; 10:30am-noon. (This course will be presented as a webinar. More information for participating will appear in later issues of The Kendalight.) Erik Inglis, Professor of Medieval Art History at Oberlin College. This course examines Dürer as an artist and printmaker, concentrating on the artistic and entrepreneurial innovations that made him a pivotal figure in art history. It is presented in conjunction with an exhibit at the Allen Memorial Art Museum: Albrecht Dürer, Printmaker: Observation, Imitation, and Invention, Sept. 24, 2024, through Jan. 18, 2025.

Art Gallery News

With the end of another very successful Kendal Collects show, the regular season of curated exhibitions has resumed. The Art Committee thanks residents who contributed such a rich collection of artworks in varied media.

Currently in the Kendal Gallery is An Artist Lives Twice by The Artists of Group Ten, a cooperative association of professional artists established in 2012 in Kent, OH. The group has grown since its inception; 16 of its current artists, who work in a variety of mediums, are on display. It will be in the gallery through October 14. There will be no artist's talk for this exhibition.

The show Poetry and Landscapes, by artist Jill Milenski, will be on display in the Community Gallery from Aug. 23 to Oct. 17. Jill will give an artist's talk on Sat., Sept. 21, at 4:00pm in the Auditorium and KOTV. The exhibit shows colorful oil pastel landscapes and city-scapes from Northeast Ohio, Europe, and New England.

Also, a selection of poetry/quote collages will be on display. Jill takes some of her favorite quotes and enhances them with color and images to bring the quote to life and encourage the reader to pay attention to the words.

The Kendal Photography group has produced some charming photographs of bees, wasps, butterflies, and other insects foraging on flowers as well as hummingbirds sipping nectar that will brighten the Friends Gallery area while it continues to undergo construction.

The Curio Cabinet contains a display of glass paperweights from the collections of Mary and Fred Behm, Nancy Garver, Suzanne McDougal, and Grover Zinn.

The Marketing Office Display Window is now filled with recent creations from the Kendal Art Studio.

Responding to Neuro-Cognitive Change Tues., Sept. 17 - 7:15pm AUD, KOTV

A panel of staff members and residents will speak to the question: How do we live and act as a community of care for residents in the various and differing stages of neuro-cognitive change?

The program will briefly explore the principle of “one community” that has shaped our culture from the start, and how we have evolved as new challenges and practices in care have emerged. The primary focus will be on present practices in the Stephens Care Center, Health & Wellness Clinic, and Social Services in addressing a variety of individual needs. We will learn about the many tools for assessing and addressing what is best for each person, keeping their well-being in mind. How can residents be helpful? There will be time for questions and discussion. ~Sponsored by Neuro-Cognitive Change Education Group

Cognitive Issues Discussion Group Welcomes Newcomers

The mission of the Kendal Cognitive Issues Discussion Group is to provide support for those with changing cognitive abilities and their family and friends within the Kendal community. We're also committed to educating the Kendal community and reducing the stigma related to cognitive change.

Join us on the fourth Friday of every month at 10:30am in the Education Center training room. Our meetings are lively and engaging. Sometimes we kick off discussions with an interesting article or a short video related to our mission, but most of the time, it's an open forum for residents to share personal experiences and ask questions.

Our group is highly participatory and incredibly supportive, and we encourage our members to actively shape the group's direction. If you're curious about the group and how it can benefit you, feel free to drop in! We recommend attending several sessions to get a feel for the group. While it's not mandatory, sharing what you hope to gain from the group can help us better meet your needs.

~Jesse Carlock

Being an Ally to Trans and Nonbinary People Fri., Sept. 13 - 1:30 to 3:00pm - Green Room

Join a discussion of the Guide to Being an Ally to Trans and Nonbinary People. This informative guide, produced by PFLAG (Parents, Families, and Friends of Lesbians and Gays-LGBTQ+), is a blunt, helpful, and witty exposition with answers to lots of questions that can help demystify what it takes to be an ally.

Residents and staff are invited. Space is limited, so signing up is required. After you sign up, you will be sent the Guide in digital form. Jesse Carlock and Ann Francis will facilitate the discussion and ask that attendees read and study the Guide in advance and come with reflections and questions.

The sign-up sheet is posted by the open mailboxes in Heiser.

Mindful Mondays Lunch with Kim and Cyndi Mon., Sept. 9 - noon - Fox and Fell Den

More About Kendal's Residents

Dianne May

I was born in St. Paul, MN, where my father taught at Macalester College. At age five I was sent to southern Utah to live with my grandparents in the midst of sheep, turkeys, and sage. The most important things about my childhood were music and poetry. I can still recite A. A. Milne and Mother Goose. Then my family moved to Southern Illinois. When I was 17, we moved to Munich, where I was enrolled in the Gymnasium, the German college-prep high school. I spoke no German but spent the next five months learning how to invert sentences. I attended the University of Illinois and studied anthropology. When I graduated, my plan was to have lots of adventures and to write. I took a job as a piano player in an off-off-Broadway theater company. My other adventures include homesteading in rural Kentucky, serving as a volunteer in Appalachia, and working as a photographic assistant at National Geographic. I supported myself in between as an executive assistant. I've been writing since my first poem at age 10. In addition to poetry, I've written two novels – one set in Bronze Age Greece, and one about a cat, Felix Coolpaw, Feline Private Investigator. Both are in the drawer. My husband, Jim, was a social worker and psychotherapist. With him I wrote Why Did I Do That?, published by Paulist Press.

I lost Jim 14 years ago. I decided to move to Kendal after seeing the ad in The New Yorker. I love the music here, the beauty of the arboretum, and how everyone is involved in making it a great place to live. This fall I'll join the Stanford Novel Writing Certificate Program and hope to have a novel, set in Berlin in 1946, finished in two years.

Pat Edwards

I grew up swimming and sailing on the Severn River, eight miles up from Annapolis, MD. I've graduated from Severna Park High School '65, Antioch College '70, Bowling Green State University '73, and Kent State University '88. My career in education began as an elementary school teacher and progressed to a middle school teacher, a teacher of infants and children with complex developmental and neurological differences, and a teacher trainer faculty member in both undergraduate and graduate programs at the University of Akron, the University of Maine, and Ashland University. I especially enjoyed teaching teachers to assume competence in ALL learners and work to prove that assumption. I retired in 2013 after 43 years of teaching.

I've traveled throughout Europe and Scandinavia and extensively in South America. My favorite trip was to Antarctica in February 2008 followed by a June 2008 driving trip through the land of the Sami people above the Arctic Circle in Sweden. If I have the opportunity before I die, I'd love to visit Northern Japan and Nunavut, Canada.

I'm the eldest of six children. My eldest brother Pete died in 2020 with pancreatic cancer. His family remains in Florida. My brother Doug and wife Michelle live in Madison, WI. Sister Nancy and her husband Bill live in Riviera Beach, MD. Brother Richard and his wife Linda live in Arkansas, and baby brother Scott lives near Deland, FL.

My mate of 48 years, Jerry Bidwell, and I spent endless summers and occasional winters camping, fishing, backpacking, and canoeing throughout the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. Jerry died in 2021. Ginger, my little dog, and I stayed on our rural property in northwestern Richland County, Ohio, until recently. Organizing and holding a three-week online auction of the contents of our home, selling the pond and home and acreage, packing up the remaining belongings, and moving and rehoming here at Kendal have been pretty overwhelming to me.

Thank you all for your patience as I rest and recover.

SCC Map and Staff Location Plan Available

The Stephens Care Center can be a confusing place to navigate. But a new map has been created to help everyone find their way around, thanks to the hard work of a dedicated group of staff members and residents (Stacy Terrell, Bev Zimmerman, and the members of the ad hoc Stephens Care Center Documentation Interest Group [Jeanne Berger, Carol Bojanowski, Elizabeth Hole, Sally Lloyd, and Sara Millman]).

The map shows the location of the Whittier and Patterson wings, Jameson House, the courtyard gardens, specific-use areas (e.g., dining, lounges), nursing stations, and other key staff locations.

The map is easy to use, copy, and update. You can grab a copy at the Heiser Reception Desk or the Health Services Medical Secretary's office. Once the Kendal website is fully up and running, the map will also be found there.

Transportation News

Airport Transportation Now Available Through Ride Share!

For a trial period of four months, the KORA Transportation Committee is expanding the Ride Share program to offer trips between Kendal and the Cleveland Hopkins International Airport. This experiment will continue through the busy holiday season and be reassessed in January 2025. (This is a new Kendal-based alternative to local airport services, Uber, etc.)

The Ride Share program provides its members with rides to medical appointments outside Lorain County (and now to the airport). The drivers are other residents who have received training. The rider is responsible for handling luggage or special equipment (or making arrangements for them). The annual rider fee is $10 per individual or $15 per couple.

To join Ride Share, contact either Gerry Findlan (committee chair) or Ken Cheek (Ride Share chair) for a copy of the application form and instructions about how to submit a request, how a driver will be assigned, and how to confirm details of your trip.

Join the KORA Transportation Committee!

Help plan future trips, help think through medical transport options, and make your needs and wishes known. We can always use new members on the Transportation Committee! We meet on the third Wed. every month.

The next meeting will be Wed., Sept. 18, at 10:00am in the Green Room. All are welcome.

Library book overdue?

Please return it as soon as you can, or let us know where it might be.

Thanks!

The Whimsical Art Chairs for Charity fundraiser for Oberlin Community Services began three months ago with the recruitment of 12 KaO resident artists and the donation of more than 20 chairs by Main Street Antiques. Each artist chose their chair and their theme and the result is a delightfully eclectic collection of artsy chairs.

The chairs will first be featured in an Art in Our Lives presentation on Thurs., Sept. 5 at 1:00pm in the Art Studio. Each artist will briefly describe how they expressed their theme. Then the chairs will be displayed along the glass wall in Heiser Lounge from Sept. 7 to 13.

On Sat., Sept. 14, the chairs will be offered for sale at FAVA's Art Fair in the Square (Tappan Square) from 10:00am to 4:00pm. Look for a sign-up sheet for a Kendal bus.

Joyce Parker will introduce acrylic painting for beginners in two sessions. To learn more and the days and times, contact Joyce or watch for the sign-up sheet on the Art Studio bulletin board.

Don Parker offers three sessions of watercolor basics for beginners and dabblers. Dates: Mon., Sept. 16, 23, and 30 from 3:00-5:00pm in the Art Studio. Contact Don for more information and to hold a place (limit six).

Kathleen Cerveney continues her availability on Thursdays to work with individuals on personal projects, such as making the Kendal Coffee Club mugs (information in Langston on shelf by fireplace). Sign-up sheet is in the Art Studio hallway.

Community Conversations

Wonder Confronts Certainty* by Gary Saul Morson

Mon., Sept. 9 - 7:15pm - AUD, KOTV

Prizewinning literary critic and writer Gary Saul Morson discusses his new book Wonder Confronts Certainty: Russian Writers on the Timeless Questions and Why Their Answers Matter. The only Northwestern professor to have held two endowed chairs simultaneously, one for research and one for teaching, he is Lawrence B. Dumas Professor of the Arts and Humanities. For 30 years, his course on Tolstoy and Dostoevsky has frequently been the university's most popular class.

As one critic put it, "A noted literary scholar traverses the Russian canon, exploring how realists, idealists, and revolutionaries debated good and evil, moral responsibility, and freedom."

Nathaniel Hawthorne and the Puritan Ethic

Thurs., Sept 12 - 7:15pm - AUD, KOTV

Although Nathaniel Hawthorne was born in Salem in 1804, long after the Puritans had ruled the Massachusetts Colony, he was obsessed with and critical of the influence of the Puritan heritage on the behavior of Americans and American culture. Resident George Blomgren notes that the effect of this obsession is clearly shown in Hawthorne's novels, including The Scarlet Letter, which is widely regarded as one of the few great American novels of the 19th century. George will present the influences on Hawthorne's life and some of the unique perspectives of his literary output.

A Seat at the Algonquin Round Table

Thurs., Sept 19 - 7:15pm - AUD, KOTV

Sue Wurster, a retired teacher of English, speech, and theater, takes a look at the formation, membership, and activities of this group of bright, talented, and ambitious artists who lunched together for ten years, beginning in 1919. Including Dorothy Parker, Robert Benchley, Robert Sherwood, George S. Kaufman, Edna Ferber, Harold Ross, and others, the participants produced novels, plays, poetry, and short stories, and among them won eight Pulitzer prizes. But perhaps the longest-lasting contribution to our world of letters was the establishment of The New Yorker in 1925 by Ross and his wife Jane Grant.

From the John Bartram Arboretum Maples

There are 13 native maple species in North America, but not all grow in our area. The best known here are black maple, red maple, silver maple, and sugar maple.

In March 2017, I wrote about the sugar maple. This article focuses on a native, the red maple (Acer rubrum), and a newer non-native to our Arboretum, the paperbark maple (Acer griseum).

Known for its beautiful fall colors, the deciduous red maple is found in eastern North America. Fast growing, it reaches 60 to 90 feet in height. The red maple tolerates a wide range of conditions. Its wood is soft and its seeds are eaten by small mammals.

Many of our maples here at Kendal are red maples. There is a whole row of them down the center of the roadway from Center Pond to the three-way stop sign. If we plant more maples, we should be adding other maple species.

There are four paperbark maples in our Arboretum. Have you noticed any of these beautiful trees? The easiest one to find is just behind the Education Center, between the building and the sidewalk.

Behind the Ed. Center.

Notice its interesting bark, which gives this maple its name. Endangered in China, its native habitat, this tree is fast growing and small in size.

Paperbark Maple Bark.

It has four-season interest, with its unique leaves which are late to emerge, beautiful late fall color, lingering seeds, and of course, its bark. The bark clings to the trunk and is not messy. This tree likes to be moist, but when established can manage some drought. Deer are not likely to bother it.

- Tues., Oct. 8, program on Decolonizing Cinema: Native Americans in Film
- Kendal library display of books including new acquisitions

Watch for details in the October Kendalight. To join our mailing list and be notified of our next monthly meeting, email Carol Conti-Entin.

Solution to Kendal Acrostic #10

Timothy Snyder, On Tyranny: "By establishing a system of checks and balances, the founding fathers sought to avoid the evil that they like ancient philosophers called tyranny. They had in mind the usurpation of power or circumvention of the law by rulers for their own benefit."

Copies of the Kendal Acrostic for Puzzle Aficionados created by Nina Love and Polly McIlrath are available in the Kendal library on a stand in front of the desk.

Christ Episcopal Communion Thurs., Sept. 12 - 10:30am Green Room

Christ Episcopal Church of Oberlin returns for a monthly celebration of Holy Communion in the Green Room on second Thursdays at 10:30am. Service lasts about 45 min. and includes scripture, prayer, a hymn, and a short sermon on the saint of the day, concluding with Communion.

Any resident interested in a service of Christian Communion is welcome, regardless of denominational or congregational membership. Founded in 1855, Christ Church is historically a social-justice oriented, LGBTQ+ affirming parish, only the second congregation in the Episcopal Church to permit a woman to preside at the altar (1974).

Questions? Contact Fr. Andy McQuery fr.andy@christchurchoberlin.org or at 440-775-2501.

Dining Matters

You have probably noticed that we have new faces among the servers. This is the time of year of the great transition. It comes with the beginning of the school year. Some of our favorite servers have moved on, but there are equally interesting young people to get to know. Please make an effort to welcome them and be patient as they get their feet on the ground. Serving in our dining rooms is a complicated business.

Lisa Wilken is working to fill other slots in the dining staff. One of the critical but little-known jobs is the receiving clerk. Did you ever consider how complicated it must be to unload all the delivery trucks that arrive here each week and put those groceries away? It was challenging enough doing that job in our homes. Imagine how difficult it is to store the food for about 350 people. Keep your fingers crossed that she finds a good person soon to do this job.

One of the ways you can tell that we are short of kitchen staff is the Langston evening closures. Friends' Corner in the SCC must always be fully staffed. The Fox and Fell must also always have enough staff to serve all its tables. That leaves the Langston as the facility that can safely close at dinner.

When you notice that it is open for dinner, I urge you to decide to try it. The seating space is much quieter than the Fox and Fell. Moreover, the food is delicious. The menu is designed with maximum flexibility in mind. Talk to those who have discovered the excellence of the fare. You will be pleasantly surprised. Besides, it is easy to slip into a table and meet people you did not already know.

Dining Matters Committee
